Richmond's Representative Business Budy No Consider Important Matters.

The annual inceting of the Chamber of 6. P. M. to-day, and it promises to be one of the most important in yours. Presihis annual report of the work of this business organization and outline some of the many projects he has worked out

Mr. Leigh will accept another term as president, it is the custom of the Chamber to elect a president for two terms.

It is expected that to-day's meeting will be one of great import to the business interests of the city, inasmuch as there will be, a resume of the work of the Chamber for the past year and a forecast of some of the more important undertakings of the coming year. It is desired that the recommendations of the president be carefully weighed and considered and discussed by the members of the organization. While the subject matter of the report is not made public in advance, it is likely that the president will make some suggestions and recommend some procedure by the Chamber with regard to many questions of vital interest to the city at this time. Many business men regard the present as a crisis in the commercial history of the city. There are many needs which the Chamber is endeavoring to awaken the people to supplying. The projected rullway lines, the matter of coultable freight rates and train schedules, various internal improvements, the provision of a large public hall and many other subjects are of immediate and timely interest, not to mention the establishment of new industries.

Every effort is being made to arouse the Chamber to action along lines well thought out in advance, but which will be submitted for the consideration and southers and of which and provises to be anything but a perfunctory one.

matters and of whatever recommenda-tions the president's report may contain are almost sure to clicit discussion by lending men in the city's advancement. All these indications point to the most active year in the Chamber's history.
